THE LEGISLATURE.

THE HILO ELECTRIC LIGHT BILL PASSES THE HOUSE.

The Judiciary Committee Reports on the Petition of Saloon-Keepers for Redress--Other Notes.

TWENTY-FIFTH DAY, JULY 13TH.

THE REPRESENTATIVES.

Speaker Naone called the House of Representatives to order at 10 o'clock this morning. After prayer by the Chaplain the minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

Representatives Kaeo from the Judiciary Committee presented a report on the petition of saloon-keepers for rebate of license which read:

"Your Judiciary Committee to whom was referred the petition of certain vendors of spirituous liquors of Honolulu praying for compensation for losses sustained during the time of martial law which existed from January 7th to March 18th, 1895, beg leave to report as follows:

"Your committee find that on January 7th the several saloons in this city were closed by order of the Marshal for an indefinite time and forbidden from selling liquor.

"That on January 30th the saloons were permitted to open with certain restrictions as to hours, as to the kind of liquor to be sold, etc., and also by paying a special police guard.

"That on March 18th all restrictions were removed.

"That during the period from January 7th to March 18th the saloons were at considerable expense for license fees, rent, wages and ice, besides the loss of business.

"That during the said period from January 7th to March 18th the holders of 'dealer's spirit' licenses were allowed to sell liquor upon permits from the Marshal's office; many of said permits your committee find were merely stamped with a rubber stamp and bear no signature.

"That during a part of said period said holders of dealer's licenses were allowed to sell liquor in smaller quantities than their licenses strictly permit, thus doing business for which the saloon-keepers are compelled to pay a license although they were forbidden the privilege of doing business.

"That when the saloons were opened and restricted to the sale of beer, the dealers were allowed to sell strong liquor.

"That while the saloons were restricted to the sale of liquor to be drunk only on the premises, the dealers were allowed to deliver large quantities about town.

"That six holders of dealer's licenses, from January 7th to 30th, the period during which the saloons were entirely closed, sold about $8300 worth of liquor, exclusive of what was shipped by them to the other islands.

"Your committee also find that by the terms of the saloon licenses the right is reserved to close the saloons on election days at the request of the Marshal, and on other occasions at the request of the Minister of the Interior.

"Your committee are of the opinion that the action of the Executive in closing the saloons and subsequently allowing them to open under certain conditions is not reviewable by the legislature. They are also of the opinion that by the strict rules of law the saloon-keepers have no redress in the courts. But they do believe that the petitioners have suffered an injustice that deserves the consideration of the legislature.

"They therefore submit herewith a bill extending the existing retail spirit licenses for a period of two months each without charge to the licensees.

"Your committee are not unmindful that the liquor business is of an extraordinary and, in a sense, a dangerous character; that those who engage in it take certain risks that other business men are not called upon to take; that the closing of saloons during the period of excitement was for the benefit of the whole community, including the proprietors of the saloons, and that other lines of business suffered more or less. But in view of all the circumstances your committee feel that the petitioners have suffered beyond their share and that the passage of the bill recommended would be no more than just."

The report was signed by Representatives Robertson, Kaeo and Kamaooha and was laid on the table to be considered with the bill.

Rep. Hanaana introduced a resolution to pay the Commercial Advertiser five cents each for the copies of the paper placed on the member's desks. The resolution was amended, authorizing the clerk to pay only for such papers as the members ordered, and passed.

The Hilo Electric Light Bill came up on its third reading on the order of the day.

The bill passed by twelve votes in the affirmative, Representatives Rycroft, Robertson and McBryde being absent.

Act No. 16, to amend the law regulating appeals from District Courts to the Circuit Judges of the Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth Circuits was read the first time by title and referred to the Judiciary Committee. The bill allows the Judges to hear appeals in chambers upon due notice to the parties interested.

The House then adjourned to Monday at 10 o'clock.
